Fancy chair attracts crowd

Dan Jackson (center, pointing), owner of J.C. Educational & Office Supply, 401 Memorial Drive, Paris, describes one of the three chairs he gave away during the May 24 monthly chamber coffee. One was a fully adjustable chair with heating, cooling and massaging that sells for $1,000. A large crowd of about 90 members of the Paris-Henry County Chamber of Commerce attended, and enjoyed treats to go with their coffee.

Walk For Life returns

Missy Hamilton, community coordinator for Tomorrow's Hope Pregnancy Medical Clinic, poses with a pregnancy simulator at the start of the Tomorrow's Hope Walk for Life on May 21. Hamilton said she issued a challenge that if she raised $500 for the walk, she would wear the prosthetic belly. After raising $500, the number was matched by local attorney Chad Cox. Donations raised money for the clinic.

Tomorrow's Hope Pregnancy Medical Clinic had its Walk For Life fundraiser on May 21. It was the first time the event had been conducted since 2011. A total of 117 people join the walk, which had a fundraising goal of $20,000. As of Tuesday, the clinic had collected $11,300 to benefit the non-profit pregnancy care clinic.

Ribbon cutting held for newly decorated dumpster for Rhea School

Shayna Miles (above, center) of the Levi Miles Foundation addresses a crowd Tuesday morning at the dedication of a newly-decorated dumpster at Rhea School. She is flanked by members of Leadership Henry County, Paris-Henry County Arts Council Director Chloe Roth (second from right) and Shayna Miles' husband, David Miles, also of the Levi Miles Foundation. The project came to fruition as Leadership

Henry County, the Levi Miles Foundation and the Arts Council worked together to acquire the dumpster and decorate it with handprints from children and community leaders. "It's huge we get to place the first beautified dumpster at a school," Miles said. "We'll get to reach not only kids, but their siblings and their parents." In the photo below, members gathered in front of the dumpster clap and cheer as
